

It would be a gross error to prohibit satellite radio from providing local traffic coverage. The sad state of our highways with abhorrent traffic delays is a major reason busy people waste valuable time. The FCC should not contribute to this mess by restricting satellite radio from providing timely traffic updates.